

An aerial photograph showing a large-scale construction project. The central area is a cleared site with several large, rectangular buildings under construction, some with white roofs and others with dark roofs. A yellow polygon is drawn over a portion of the site, specifically over a wooded area and a small pond, with the text "FUTURE DEVELOPMENT" written in yellow inside it. The surrounding area includes a residential neighborhood with houses and a swimming pool, a large body of water, and a road on the left side. The overall scene is a mix of natural landscape and human-made structures.
